

Product Information Bulletin

Paraffin Inhibitors

Paraffin Inhibitors are used to prevent or rid of paraffin wax deposits in crude oil. These wax formations occur with the bonding of aliphatic wax molecules which are/and most commonly found in cooler weather. Paraffin Inhibitors bond with the wax crystals lattice at an active growing site and therefore prevent further growth by disrupting the lattice structure.